USPS Expected To Reject Site As Possible New Facility Location

Council Denies Parker Property Drainage Proposal

A proposal for a drainage project on a Chestnut Street site being considered by the United States Postal Service for the location of a new postal facility in Murray was denied by the Murray Common Council last night.

The council voted 9-3 to deny the project following a lengthy public hearing which included a presentation on the feasibility of the project by Ted Billington, consulting engineer.

Voting against the project were council members Steve Yarbrough, Martha Sammons, Marshall Jones, W. R. Furches, Howard Koenen, Dr. J. D. Outland, Ruby Hale, Dave Willis and Dr. C. C. Lowry. Voting in favor of the project were council members Dick George, Billy Balentine and Hardiman Nix. Nix later explained to the council that he misunderstood the motion and intended to vote against the project.

John Parker, who is negotiating with the USPS for the sale of the property owned by his mother, Mrs. Birdie Parker, told the council:

"They will build a post office if we get the water off of it (the property)."

But councilman Jones raised the question of whether the council would be voting for or against a new post office or for or against the drainage project.

Mayor Henley indicated to the council that to his knowledge, the postal service had looked at four other sites in Murray, in addition to the Parker property.

The Parker property, which fronts on Chestnut Street, is located about 300 feet west of the intersection of Chestnut and 10th streets.

Later in the meeting, the council authorized that a resolution be drawn indicating the members are generally in favor of a new post office for Murray.

Several council members expressed a concern about what effect the drainage project on the Parker property would have on the portion of the old city park along 10th Street. They indicated they felt if that portion of the old park were utilized as a "pooling area" for water running off of the Parker site it would preclude future development of the park property.

Another concern was expressed by councilman Furches, who said: "I, for one, would hate to see the post office move out of the downtown area. I think it would deteriorate the downtown considerably."

Parker replied that in his conversations with postal officials, they had indicated the possibility of maintaining a branch office in the downtown area.

"Until we're assured we get one (a branch) downtown I couldn't vote for a new post office," Furches said.

Also expressing concern about the drainage project were W. J. Pitman and David Graham, residents of Olive Street. Both said they currently have water drainage problems on their properties — located downstream from the park property — and were concerned that the project could increase the problems they now have.

Billington had indicated that his study showed the amount of water reaching a pipe under Sharpe Street, south of the park property, would only be increased by three to six percent if the project were approved.

Billington said in his estimation the effect on property owners further downstream from the Sharpe Street 48 inch pipe would be minimal.

Billington had earlier indicated that all of the drainage structures in the area of the park were undersized and that total revamping of drainage in the park and further south would constitute a tremendous cost to the city.

His recommendation on the drainage project for the Parker property stipulated that no changes be made in the size of the drain pipes south of the park property saying the smaller size of the pipes would have a "choking effect" on the water flow and would act as a protection against further flooding downstream.

Other sites that the USPS has reportedly considered include the park property at the corner of 10th and Chestnut, a site on the east side of 12th Street between Poplar and Sycamore and the Taylor Motors property at 4th and Poplar.

A motion to table action on the drainage proposal until the next meeting of the council was voted down after Parker told the council he would rather vote last night.

Attempts by The Murray Ledger & Times to reach officials with USPS in Washington today to find out what other options might be open for a possible new post office facility proved futile, however, aides in the office of Congressman Carroll Hubbard are pursuing the matter at his direction.

Utility Rate Hikes

Get Initial Approval

A new rate structure for water districts purchasing water from the Murray Water & Sewer System and an increase in sewer rates charged customers of the system received preliminary approval of the Murray Common Council at its regular session last night.

The new rates, which are to be incorporated into an amendment to the present rate ordinance and presented to the council at a later meeting, are:

—Water districts will be charged at the rate of 45 cents per 1,000 gallons of water purchased. Districts presently are paying 45 cents per 1,000 gallons on the first 300,000 gallons purchased and 35 cents per 1,000 gallons on the remainder;

—Sewer rates will be increased from one-third of the charge for water to one-half the charge for water.

Don Leets of the water system explained to The Murray Ledger & Times that the average customer of the water system uses 6,000 gallons of water per month. Leets said the present sewer charge of $3.86 on 6,000 would increase by 70 cents to $4.56 under the proposed new rate structure.

The council was also advised last night of an impending increase in the cost of natural gas.

Councilman W. R. Furches said that an increase from Texas Gas on gas sold the local system would be passed along for consumers and would be reflected on bills received May 1. He said the increase of seven cents 1,000 cubic feet of gas would mean a hike of approximately 75 cents per month in the average homeowners gas bill.

In other action at Thursday's meeting, the council approved two ordinances on second and final reading and two others on first reading.

Enacted were:

—An ordinance amending the zoning ordinance to increase fees charged an individual requesting a zoning change, and;

—An ordinance establishing a uniform penalty of $5 for parking violations throughout the city. The penalty does not apply to violations on parking meters.

Approved on first reading were:

—An ordinance amending rezoning the Harley Robertson property near S. 641 and Parklane from R-2 (residential) to R-4 (multi-family dwellings) and;

—An ordinance establishing a no parking zone on the east side of Stadium View Drive.

Also discussed at last night's meeting were violations of no parking on Olive Blvd. The council directed Police Chief Brent Manning to station patrolmen in the vicinity of the no parking zones tonight and Saturday to dissuade fans going to the regional basketball tournament at the MSU Sports Arena from parking in those zones.

The council also heard a report from Dr. J. D. Outland of the public works committee who said city streets had sustained from $250,000 to $350,000 worth of damage during the severe winter weather.

Calloway School Board Okays Calendar; Spring Break Cut

By LOWELL ATCHLEY
Staff Reporter
Calloway County school students will get a two day spring break instead of five day vacation under a revised school makeup calendar Calloway County Board of Education has approved.

In a split vote Thursday, county school board members okayed a school calendar amendment, that if approved by Kentucky Department of Education, will mean a two day spring break; it eliminates a two day "mini-break" next week, and will have students getting out of school June 3 — on a Saturday.

School board members okayed the calendar revision to make up 22 days missed in January, February and March due to the weather.

Board members also voted to accept 10 calamity days from the state, five tentatively from the Kentucky Board of Education and five from a governor's executive order.

Under the revision plan, students will be in school March 16 and 17; April 10, 11 and 12; May 25, 26, 30, 31; and June 1, 2 and 3. Students will pick up their report cards June 3, a Saturday, instead of the current May 24 final day.

The calendar revision the board members settled on was one of four options a school calendar committee submitted to the board.

Board members had options of eliminating days such as spring break and the "mini-break," extending the school day or having classes on Saturday. Board members chose an option that calls for no Saturday classes nor school day extensions.

School board member Billy Joe Kingins voted against the calendar revision option but didn't say why in the open meeting.

Hamburgers And Hotdogs
After a long discussion with principals and parents attending the Thursday session, Calloway County Board of Education voted to have an option of hamburgers and hotdogs in addition to the normal lunchroom fare on alternating days for all students attending county elementary schools.

School principals Bob Allen of East Elementary, Jim Felner of North and Roy Cothran of South attended the session.

The principals indicated that generally hamburger lunch lines will take longer than normal pre-served food lines.

All the elementary school administrators agreed to try the hamburger-hotdog options on alternating days at the schools for the remainder of the school term.

Murray School Board To Study Elementary Reorganization Plan

By LOWELL ATCHLEY
Staff Reporter

Members of the Murray Independent Board of Education are expected to study a report in coming days which, if approved, could mean a complete elementary level reorganization in the city school system.

"The reorganization would establish a primary learning center, K-2 at Robertson School and an intermediate learning center, 3-4, at Carter School," Mary S. Ryan, a school principal for both schools, told board members Thursday evening.

Both schools currently have grades K-4.

An anticipated strong showing of parents opposing the measure at the school board meeting Thursday evening fizzled. Few there spoke out against the reorganization plan, while others talked of systemwide busing concerns.

"I want the board to be aware of the practical side of this. . . carpooling is going to be more complicated because, for example, if I have to bring children to two schools, it would be harder for me to find someone else going to those schools at the same time. . . If I have two young children, a first grader and a fourth grader, I'm going to have to go to one school and get one and another school to get the other," one parent told board members.

The current city elementary reorganization plan is an outgrowth of committee work done by Margaret Franklin, a teacher, Willie Jackson, transportation and pupil personnel administrator, and Mrs. Ryan.

"For several years the administration has been aware of a population trend that has the potential for creating a problem for the present school organization. That trend is the imbalance in the school populations of the school zones as they now exist," Mrs. Ryan said.

Enrollment figures show a continuing drop in enrollment at Carter and an enrollment gain at Robertson, both since 1971-72. Carter currently enrolls 200 and Robertson 322.

"At the present time the imbalance has not presented many problems for our school district since we have been able to correct imbalances between schools mostly by placement of tuition students. Since the opening of the new county elementary schools and the expected addition of one kindergarten unit, the number of tuition students enrolling in the city schools can be expected to drop," Mrs. Ryan said.

Advantages of the plan, she said, would be the placement of students similar in age "in an environment created to take care of their educational needs."

Additional advantages, she said, could be student grouping; "the plan locates teachers of the students together in a manner that encourages cooperative planning," Mrs. Ryan also talked of placement of appropriate materials in each school.

The plan, she said, would mean no loss in federal title funding and would give the opportunity for each child in Murray to enter kindergarten and go straight through school together.

Three Still In Running For AD

The number of candidates still under consideration for the position of athletic director at Murray State University has been narrowed to three, Dr. Marshall Gordon, vice-president for university services said today.

Gordon said that the selection committee is expected to agree on a final recommendation sometime next week and the recommendation will be presented to the university's board of regents at its session Saturday, March 18.

Gordon would not reveal the identities of the three candidates but did say one was "inside" (from within the present university community) and the Disadvantages to the reorganization, she said, would be the loss of educational modeling after older children; children would have to change buildings three times; and she cited inconveniences to families.

Jackson said that since the system has two new buses on order, the plan wouldn't require adding another bus. "The problem of distance between the campuses was mentioned. I have checked the difference with my car, and they are minimal," Mrs. Ryan said.

Following presentation of the reorganization plan, the board went into executive session for "personnel" reasons.

In other Murray school board business:

—The board adopted mathematics textbooks for grades 1-12 for next school term.

—Board members are expected to study some mechanical cooling bids for schools in the system. Some questions were raised about subcontractors working with the bidders.

—Board members voted, as did

Cleanup Program

Begins Next Week

Murray Street Department will start the annual spring city beautification program beginning Monday, March 13.

According to Ray Clark, city street superintendent, the program entails picking up limbs, shrubbery, household trash, large appliances and furniture at the curb side.

Clark said the following rules must be followed in order to speedily handle the material: All weeds, grass and shrubbery trimmings, along with small household trash, must be placed in plastic bags. Brush and limbs should be neatly stacked in small piles and extended no longer than six feet and three inches in diameter.

To have the service, city residents are asked to call 753-3790 between 7 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. The service is based on a call-in procedure and calls will be responded to as quickly as possible, according to Clark.

Down Concord Way...

Writer Tells Of Early Living When The Energy Crisis Not A Problem

By Estelle Spiceland
Feb. 22, 1978

I was advised in a letter from a favorite teacher, Max Hurt, to write now as never before.

But instead of being inspirational as he has always been, I fear there will be an Edgar Allan Poe flavor of "Nevermore" to anything I might write.

Death has followed death this hard winter. Flowers are still on four graves in New Concord Cemetery, the last two, Otis Ferguson's and Ralph Moss.

Mrs. Fannie Lou Rushing left a great vacancy, not only in her home, but in Poplar Spring Baptist Church.

Paul Blalock died on the day we read in Ledger's "Ten Years Ago Column" how he and others had been cited for superior accomplishments to the state Dairy Herd Association.

A former Stewart County neighbor, Wilburn Cook, who refinished old furniture at Dover, paid his respects to Linus Spiceland, and a few days later died after surgery.

Many are seriously ill. Mrs. Lenore Jones, formerly of Concord, has a sister, Beatrice Locke, in the hospital, and also a daughter and son-in-law seriously ill.

Mrs. Vida Shackelford and Mrs. Fata Wynn, mother of Mrs. Juanita Spiceland, are in the intensive care unit of the Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

Donnie Parker, shot accidentally while deer hunting, is still unable to walk. Our Lovins who fell off a ladder, has been confined in Lourdes Hospital for weeks.

On and on, could go on this account of tribulations. So in preparation for life's winters, we recommend Ecclesiastes 12:1, "Remember now thy creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them."

By the way, for those who contribute toward the Heart Fund instead of flowers as memorials, the Memorial Heart Fund sends cards of acknowledgements "with names of donors and thanks."

Since we will build air castles for the future, "nevermore we like to relive precious memories of the past."

Predictions of an energy crisis are alarming now, but once in the dear dead days beyond recall, we scarce would have listened.

We were getting our housekeeping experience in a little house without electricity or water. We did have one luxury, a small fireplace and plenty of wood around us.

We would have had no fear of a blackout. We had a kerosene lamp. We also had an iron tea kettle for heating water.

Weekly grocery shopping was unheard of. We raised most of the food we ate, and we had a cow to furnish milk.

There were paths through the woods to neighbors' houses, where everybody lived as simply as we.

And there was a small country church nearby where all congregated on the Sabbath Day.

But it seems that in no church have we learned I Timothy 6:8, "Godliness with contentment is great gain. For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out. And having food and raiment let us be there with contentment."

Looking back now, we realize how blessed we were.

So if we had any advice to young people starting homes, we would quote Edgar A. Guest:

"It don't make any difference how rich ye get to be, How much your chairs and tables cost,

How great your luxury, Home ain't a place that gold can buy

Or get up in a minute. Before it's home there's got to be

A heap o'livin' in it." Solve everyday as if it were to be your last, and give every flying minute something to keep in store, for the night is coming when we can work no more.

Miss Bibb Honored At Brunch Here

A recent party honoring Miss Sandy Bibb, bride-elect of Glen Culp, was a brunch held at the Holiday Inn.

The table was overlaid with green and white checked gingham cloths. Individual place mats of ruffled eyelet were used with ruffled eyelet napkins with red strawberry designs. The centerpieces were red straw strawberries topped with red polka dot bows.

Small pots of English ivy marked each place. A delightful meal of strawberry sour cream crepes was served to the sixteen guests present.

The honoree was presented with a large wooden bowl filled with apple candies. The hostesses were Mrs. Marshall Garland, Mrs. Tip Miller, Mrs. Don McCord, and Mrs. James Payne.

Boss's Wife Asks Same Dumb Question

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am the secretary for a businessman whose wife is getting on my nerves. When she phones him at the office, and I tell her that her husband is talking on the phone, she always asks, "How long do you think he will be?"

Abby, how do I know how long he will be? He could say goodbye in three seconds, or he could talk for half an hour. Please print this for a lot of other dummies who ask that question; a million secretaries will love you for it.

SOMEBODY'S SECRETARY

DEAR SECRETARY: Everybody can use a little more love, but I confess that on occasion I've been one of those "dummies."

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is all right to speak to my mother in the same tone she uses when she speaks to me? When she yells at me or gets sarcastic, and I answer her back in the same tone, she slaps me right in front of my friends. They're all afraid of her.

Before my friends come over, they ask if my mother is in a bad mood today.

Please tell me how to get along with a person everybody is afraid of? I have four more years to go before I'm old enough to leave home, and I can hardly wait.

MOTHER TROUBLE

DEAR TROUBLE: It's NOT all right to speak to your mother in the same tone she uses to speak to you. Mothers have problems children know nothing of, and they sometimes take out their frustrations on those who are nearest and dearest to them. When mother is in a "bad mood," try being especially patient and understanding, because that's when she needs it the most.

DEAR ABBY: I am 5 feet 11 and weigh 230 pounds. That's not all. I'm black, female, 22 and very lonely. I guess you can see why.

I try to lose weight, but I get upset about something and start eating again. Nothing seems to help. I sit around feeling sorry for myself, then I force myself to go out and meet people, but they always turn out to be the wrong kind of people.

If you know anyone who wants a big, tall, black girl to love, please let me know, because without love, there's no point in living.

LONELY IN GA.

DEAR LONELY: I don't put people in touch with people through my column, but perhaps I can help you. Being overweight is only part of your problem. I don't know if there's an Overeaters Anonymous chapter in your town, but if there isn't, it would be worth taking a trip to the nearest city that has one. And if you're not sure whether life is worth living, please call your Suicide Prevention hot line.

Write to me again and let me know if you've followed these leads. I care.

Miss Robin Dowdy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Russell Dowdy, Sr., of Murray, became the bride of Donald F. Haggard III, son of Dr. and Mrs. Donald F. Haggard, Jr., of Valley Station, on Saturday, Feb. 4, at two p.m. at the Goshen United Methodist Church, Murray.

The bride, escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents, wore a formal gown of white silk organza. The Queen Ann neckline, empire bodice, and shepherd sleeves were accented with Alencon lace. The a-line skirt had an apron effect with the hemline enhanced with a deep ruffle and lace which swept into a chapel train.

Her veil of silk illusion fell from a Queen Ann headpiece covered with lace and tiny seed pearls. Her jewelry was a gold and diamond pendant. She carried cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and white pixie carnations.

The maid of honor, Marla Daniels, and bridesmaids, Kim Suiter and Tammy Curd, wore blue a-line gowns with sheer floral capes. They wore matching blue roses in their hair and carried pink gladioli.

Attending Mr. Haggard as best man was Jim Robeck of Bardonia. Groomsmen were Tom Howard of Cecilia and Joe Chiarello of Riverside, N. J.

Miss Catherine Hurley, niece of the bride, kept the bridal registry.

Reception
Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Holiday Inn with Miss Kaylee Haggard, sister of the groom, Mrs. Penny Gardner, and Mrs. Pamela Woods, sisters of the bride, serving the guests. Rice bags were distributed by April Woods and Lisa

Sex During Pregnancy And After Delivery

Q: Mrs. E.P. says that she is pregnant for the first time, and she is not yet under the care of a physician. She wants to know when she should place her case under a doctor's care.

Also, she asks how long she can continue to have sex during pregnancy and when can she have intercourse after her baby is delivered.

A: Congratulations on your pregnancy. It is an important event in your life. In addition, you have the responsibility for the health of your unborn child. Therefore, even though you may feel in good health, you should choose a physician and place yourself regularly under his or her care.

A history, physical examination and laboratory studies done early will supply essential information in your record and assist in the accurate management of your pregnancy and delivery. For example, your heart, blood pressure and kidney function are important, as well as other facts, such as your weight, diet and exercise habits.

Such prenatal care helps to avoid complications of pregnancy and delivery before such complications arise.

Often, the sex drive is increased in a woman during pregnancy, perhaps because the usual "fear" of pregnancy is removed and because of an increase in hormones.

Although physicians vary in their advice about sexual intercourse, they often tell patients it is safe until the last month of pregnancy. The size of the mother's abdomen may make the sex act mechanically difficult, and the membranes may be ruptured during sexual excitement and cause a premature onset of labor. The prostaglandins in the male's ejaculated fluid is viewed as a stimulant to the uterus and may initiate uterine contractions and early labor.

After delivery, vaginal discharge is often copious and may show spots of blood. Sex should be postponed until the discharge and spotting have stopped and until any vaginal incisions and tears have healed. Therefore, it takes about four weeks until such healing and recovery have taken place.

Kentucky's Horses

Horses have been a part of Kentucky history since Daniel Boone brought some with him on his 1769 hunting trip through Cumberland Gap to the Bluegrass.

It is recorded that Indians made off with those first steeds, but that was only a temporary setback for Kentucky's equine population.

By 1789, three years before Kentucky was admitted to the union, Fayette County tax rolls recorded 9607 horses and 56 stallions. The human population numbered about 3500.

Kent Hollingsworth, a historian of Kentucky horse life, described those days in The Kentucky Thoroughbred, one of the University of Kentucky Press' series of books of state history.

The horses of early Kentucky "were not Thoroughbreds," wrote Hollingsworth, "but they were raced, for the character of the people who came to be called Kentuckians, second sons from Virginia and Carolina seeking adventure, action, fortune in free lands, was such that when there were no Indians to chase and no stumps to be cleared, there were arguments to be settled; in Kentucky, arguments usually were settled by a horse race."

Though Kentuckians have been betting on horses since the early days of the Republic, it was only last year that they got around to counting them.

The Kentucky Horse Council began its nose-count last spring and will issue its first equine census soon.

The Council is printing 6000 copies of its census. Four thousand copies will go to the equine industry. The rest are free to the public. Copies can be obtained through the council at P. O. Box 11992, Lexington 40579.

The Promise

The Response of the people Acts 2:26-42

The Holy Spirit is a divine Person, and not a mere influence. Thinking of Him as a divine Person, which He is, our thought will be, "How can the Holy Spirit get hold of me and use me?"

The Coming of the Holy Spirit Acts 2:1-4

On the fiftieth day after the Feast of the Passover, the 120 disciples were together in one place — the upper room in Jerusalem, and with one spiritual purpose. When God's appointed time for the out pouring of the Holy Spirit arrived, in fulfillment of His promise, the Holy Spirit descended upon those assembled believers, took possession or control of them to such an extent that they throbbed with His sympathies, spoke His thoughts, and conformed to His will.

Among the various evidences of the Holy Spirit's presence was an audible one — "suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing, mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting." This sound from heaven resembled a violent wind being borne along, somewhat like a tornado.

There was also a visible sign — there appeared unto the disciples divided tongues which resembled fire, and one sat upon the head of each present. This was the visible evidence that each of them had received the Holy Spirit, and that He possessed and controlled them.

Another supernatural manifestation on that day was the speaking in foreign languages, other than the ones which they had learned and used previously. Immediately after the Spirit filled the believers and they "Began to speak with other tongues," those present understood what they said. This miraculous gift indicated the fact that our Lord wanted His gospel to be preached in every language of the world. The preaching of the gospel is always much more effective when people hear it in their own language.

Competitive Disadvantage

NEW YORK (AP) — In a mood of resentment and high morality, Congress last December made it a criminal offense for an American company to pay foreign officials for preferential treatment.

Neil Jacoby, former member of the Council of Economic Advisers, thinks we might have blundered in so doing. Already, he says, there are signs that America has placed itself at a competitive disadvantage.

American engineering firms, for example, have already reduced their participation in big Midwest construction projects. And at least one company has decided to manufacture abroad rather than export.

"If as a consequence American firms lost 5 percent of their business it would mean a loss of $6 billion," he said. "If each $50,000 of lost business costs $50,000, that means 120,000 jobs lost."

Does Jacoby, therefore, approve of unethical behavior? No more than do Peter Nehemkis and Richard Eels, fellow professors who helped him produce a new volume, "Bribery and Extortion in World Business."

Nehemkis, who like Jacoby teaches at the University of California, Los Angeles, and Eels, a corporate specialist at Columbia University, believe an error was made in criminalizing the behavior.

They make an enormous distinction which they claim Congress and the media almost ignored: Most of the payments, they say, were made because of the initiative of foreigners, not of American businessmen.

The payments were, simply, more a result of extortion than of bribery, the authors say, and they maintain the distinction makes a world of difference, a difference that Congress and the media almost ignored.

To criminalize such activities, they say, leaves the problem largely unresolved, or if resolved, resolved to the detriment of all Americans.

A more effective approach, they say, would be to insist that corporations closely audit and monitor the actions of their employees and agents, keeping precise records and scrutinizing them.

As the authors see it, foreign governments, for their part, should adhere to responsible behavior to investments, reduce administrative discretion and spell out their laws and enforce them.

If American business is to be protected from illegal demands by foreigners, therefore, the White House has an obligation to put the State Department to work, Jacoby continued.

Washington, however, has given little attention to this role.

Of Sen. William Proxmire, the Wisconsin Democrat who strongly supported the new law, Jacoby commented tersely: "He doesn't know what it's all about. He had criticism also for Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal."

Blumenthal's attitude, said Jacoby, is that all American business need do is make a good product and it won't have to worry. Why then, he asks, did Blumenthal's former company, the Bendix Corp., pay $600,000?

Sacrificial Love Or Spiritual Abuse

By Dean Ross

Campus Minister

Murray Christian Fellowship

Many Christian are confused, mainly by their teachers, as to what sacrificial love is and when it becomes human abuse. Under the name of Christian and using Scripture some have caused people to live under sub-human regulations or what could be called "Christian slavery." The Scriptures never ask anyone to give up his human will in living out his faith but rather to transform or return it to the will of God.

I have become aware of this difference through a study of I Corinthians the thirteenth chapter. This is the familiar "love" chapter. It is the love that is best described as "Jesus' kind of love." In the Greek it is (agape) love. It is the one way love that is always going outward. It is sacrificial love; it is the giving up of privileges and rights in order to help another.

In all of the fifteen descriptions that Paul gives of his love in this thirteenth chapter, I want to discuss these: "It does not seek its own, is not provoked, does not take into account a wrong suffered, it is patient, it is kind..."

These are beautiful descriptions of agape love. It is what we do not see much of in our world let alone in churches. It would be a thing worthy of note if business and industry of today were run on the principle of agape love. What a change there would be in family life if this love were displayed more often. Instead we see, from all sides, self-seeking, impatient, unkind individuals whose love has become abuse.

Here is the misconception and the place where love becomes abuse. Agape love comes from within the individual who makes the decision as to how he will act for the good of others. This lifestyle becomes abuse and sub-human when a person's will or choice is overruled and he is compelled to act even when he does not see his actions as being for the good of others.

When this happens one becomes a victim of circumstances over which he has no control. God does not command us to live in situations where human dignity is lost. God does not expect us to live in situations that will destroy our personhood. When this occurs we become non-humans to be exploited. Only when one chooses or wills to sacrifice of himself for the total good of another is he displaying agape love.

A Roman Catholic nun, kneeling beside a roadside in Palestine, was wiping the gangrenous sores of a leper. An American businessman walking by exclaimed, "I wouldn't do that for a million dollars!" Looking up she said, "Neither would I."

The compelling force to make this sacrifice was not the result of a legalistic demand set on her. Even her religious order did not demand that she do this. She made a choice. Out of compassion from inside by her own will she became involved in the life of the leper. It would have been abuse if one had been forced into such actions.

God does not force such actions. Even Christ himself had a choice in the matter of His sacrifice. He was abused and killed by the Jews. Although this

Rugged Lowes Too Strong For Tigers

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

On the way to Mayfield, the van carrying the Murray High girls' basketball team to the First Region Tournament quit. Fortunately, the Tiger girls found other transportation and arrived for their Thursday semifinal game with Lowes.

And on the way to what certainly appears a berth in the state tourney, Lowes also had a breakdown as their high-powered offensive machine was held in check for half the game by Murray High.

But in the end, the unavoidable happened and Lowes got its fast break working to perfection while the Tigers simply ran out of gas and wound up on the short end of a 64-45 score.

Actually, the final margin doesn't really give an indication as to how well the Tigers played. In an earlier meeting at Murray, Lowes won by 33 points. But at that time, the Tigers were playing poorly.

Lowes was by no means over-confident when they came into the game. It was just that a bunch of young ladies from Murray High played their hearts out and managed to keep the game close until the superior talent and depth took its toll.

Murray tried a little of everything to contain Lowes. The Tigers started out with a triangle in two and put junior guard Jaina Washer as the man-to-man chaser on Tammie Simmons of Lowes.

It worked to an extent. Simmons was held in check but Deana Hart was left open and did a lot of damage to the Tigers in the first half under the offensive boards.

Then in the second half, the Tigers tried the defense on Hart. Lowes simply went to another one of its outstanding players, Cindy Smith. And it was the play of Smith that finally broke the game open early in the fourth period.

Lowes led 43-31 going into the last period but freshman center Tonya Alexander hit on a rebound to close the gap to 10 points. Then after Simmons hit a free throw, Smith scored on a length-of-the-court pass and it was 46-33.

Murray missed a shot and Smith grabbed the rebound and fired a long pass to midcourt where Laura Gourley drove for the basket. She was fouled on the play and made both free throws. Then Smith iced it with a three-point play off the break and Lowes led 51-33 with 5:42 left in the game. Murray could come no closer than 14 points the rest of the way.

"We gave it everything we had," Tiger coach Rick Fisher said.

"They just came out and had a better second half than we did," he added.

The spark for that second half effort came in the final seconds of the second period. Lowes led 23-22 but Deana Hart hit from 15 feet then at the buzzer, Susan Geveden scored on a rebound for a 27-22 edge.

Murray scored the first basket of the second half as Rhysa Griffith put back in a missed shot but Lowes out-pointed Murray 8-2 in the next four minutes and built up a 37-26 cushion to break the game open somewhat before the last quarter explosion.

Murray raced to a 6-2 lead early in the game and the last Tiger lead was 10-9.

"We stayed with them until their physical size and depth took over," Fisher said. "Plus we had some bad turnovers in key situations and couldn't hit the bucket when we needed it."

"Lowes is a great club and they are definitely the team to beat here. We felt like if we could stay close, we might get them in the end with our press the way we did Marshall County and Calloway County in the district."

"But we had to go to our press a little too soon. Our girls never did give up. They always felt they had a chance to win."

"We won the district championship and that's something nobody can take from us. We came back from the dead."

"At one point, we were 2-6 but we wound up winning eight of our last 10 games. I'm super proud of this group. They've been very coachable and they've went into all the games with good attitudes," Fisher added.

"Smith scored 21 points to pace Lowes while Simmons, limited to only two field goals, added 10 free throws to finish with 14 points and Deana Hart tossed in 10."

For Murray, sophomore Catherine Simmons again came through with a beautiful performance and had 15 points, many of them power moves to the basket through heavy traffic in the lane.

Alexander added 12 points and Rhysa Griffith along with Jaina Washer scored eight. Griffith, showing some fine offensive play, had one of her best games of the season.

Lowes outrebounded Murray only 49-45.

"We were in foul trouble in the second half and had to play our little people and Lowes began to hurt us on the boards in the third quarter. Another factor was that we had Washer playing man-to-man and we worked her pretty hard defensively, which may have taken some of her offense away."

"I felt Griffith had one of her best games and Simmons played an outstanding game. She got better with every game she played. Also, Alexander did real well under the boards and there's not many freshmen who can play as strong as she did against Lowes."

"We're losing two fine players off this club, Krista Russell and Marlene Farrell. I really hate to see Marlene go. She's the kind of person who really deserved the kind of season we had over the last half. We're really going to miss her."

"But we have a lot of good, young players returning next year and we're looking forward to coming back and giving it another try," Fisher added.

Murray ends with an 11-9 record while Lowes will carry a 25-2 mark into Saturday's championship battle with Carlisle County.

SUPER GAME — Catherine Simmons, who seemed to play better with each game, goes to the inside to score two of her 15 points in the Tigers' semifinal loss to Lowes. Others in the picture are Cindy Smith (30), Jill Hart (34) and Marlene Farrell (21).

Carlisle Hot From Line, Nips Lakers

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

It seems that in almost every game the Calloway County High School girls' basketball team played over the second half of the season, the Lakers would score less points from the free throw line than the other team.

And in just about every one of those games, the Lakers came out on the short end of the score. It wasn't that the Lakers were shooting poorly from the free throw line, it was just their aggressive play kept them in foul trouble and they never shot as much from the line as the other team.

The means changed Thursday night at the First Region Tournament at Mayfield. But the end was the same.

In the semifinal of the regional against a good Carlisle County team, the Lakers had more free throw chances but wound up on the short end of a 60-55 score and thus ended their season.

From the field, Calloway County outpointed Carlisle County 44-36. But the Comets went to the line for 27 free throws and connected on 22. Meanwhile, the Lakers were having an atrocious night and managed to make only 11 of 31.

"Any time a team hits like they do from the free throw line, it's just hard to win," Laker coach Marianne Davis said after the game.

"We gave it our best and I thought everyone played real well. We tried hard but just came out on the bottom end of the score," Davis added.

Actually, the Lakers didn't give it their best. They gave all they could but "the best" for the Lakers was back when Calloway roared off to an 11-0 start before falling upon hard

FIGURE SKATING
OTTAWA — Charlie Tickner skated an electrifying freestyle program to win the men's gold medal at the World Figure Skating Championships.

Tickner of Littleton, Colo., became the first American to win figure skating's top male prize since Tim Wood captured successive crowns in 1969 and 1970.

East Germany's Jan Hoffman was second and Britain's John Cousins was third in the close competition.

Defending women's champion Linda Fratianne inched closer to Anett Poetsch of East Germany, setting up a dramatic confrontation in the four minutes of free skating.

times as injuries plagued the team.

Though the Lakers did have leading scorer Mina Todd for the district tournament and their two appearances in the First Region Tournament, they were just a shadow of the club they were at mid-season before all the injuries came.

It was a miracle there weren't any injuries in the loss to the Comets. The Lakers were all over the floor, diving for rebounds and trying to take charges.

Calloway gave everything they had, but it just wasn't enough. Todd, who scored 14 points in the first half and finished with a game-high 22 points, fouled out with 2:40 left in the contest and at the time, the Lakers were down 46-43. Three minutes earlier, center Felicia Pinner had fouled out and it appeared the game was all over.

But appearances often fool people. The Lakers kept battling back, though the odds were just too great to overcome. With 1:34 left in the game, Carlisle led 55-47 but nobody left their seat because the Lakers made a furious try and making a comeback.

The Lakers came back down and sophomore reserve Melissa Miller hit on an offensive putback to trim the Comet lead to six points. Then at the 1:06 mark, the Comets stretched it back to eight as Cindy Rambo made two free throws.

With just 59 seconds left on the clock, junior Stephanie Wyatt scored from under and was fouled. She missed her free throw but Rose Ross rebounded and was fouled.

Ross, who did everything on defense with the exception of trying to steal shoes off the players, made both her free throws and Carlisle County led only 57-53. Immediately, the Lakers fouled and for once, the Comets missed from the stripe and Wyatt rebounded for Calloway.

Then with 41 seconds left in the game, Miller scored on yet another putback and it was just a 57-55 lead for the Comets. Rambo made one of two from the line with 34 seconds left and Ross drove down and fired up a 15-footer that just missed.

The ball was tied up on the rebound battle but the Lakers got the tip and Miller was fouled with 19 seconds remaining. She missed the free throw but Ross rebounded in the lane in heavy traffic and was called for walking.

The Comets made two free throws in the final seconds to up the final margin to five points. Todd, who sat out three weeks with a broken ankle before coming back last week in the district, scored 22 points to pace the Lakers and had she not been injured, might have scored many more points but her shooting touch never did get back to what it was before the injury.

Ross, who hit the floor during the game about as much as the ball did, added 19 in a sparkling performance. For the Comets, junior guard Lisa Bean, a starter since the eighth grade, fired in 21 points while Cindy Hoskins added 14 and Cindy Rambo 12.

Calloway never led in the second half but on four occasions in the first half, the Lakers held the upper hand, the final lead coming with 2:07 left in the second period at 23-22 before the Comets scored the final four points of the half to lead 26-23 at intermission.

Twice in the third period, the Lakers pulled to within a point before trailing 40-35 going into the last quarter. The Lakers opened the final period with Todd hitting from 10 feet then Ross hit for three points to tie the game at 40-40 with 6:18 left but the Comets scored the next four points and led the rest of the way.

"Carlisle County is a good team and we certainly wish them the best of luck in the championship game with Lowes," Davis said.

"Also, I'd like to thank all of the fans for coming out to support us. We're losing Pinner and Susie Imes off this club and we're looking forward to coming back next year," Davis added.

The Lakers end the season at 14-9 while Carlisle County will take a 19-8 mark into Saturday's 2 p.m. title game with Lowes.

The winner of that game, which should be Lowes, will open state tourney play Wednesday afternoon in Richmond.

Unavailability Of Railroad Hinders TVA Coal Shipments Teacher PN Bill Headed For Committee Showdown

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The unavailability of railroad cars to ship western coal back east is the main snag preventing the Tennessee Valley Authority from stabilizing strike-depleted stockpiles.

"There's more than enough cars available for everybody," Lewis Wallace, a TVA attorney, said Thursday.

"The problem is the railroads just don't want to let them get that far away from home."

Lynn Seeber, general manager of the government-owned utility, said eastern railroads apparently are opting to hold on to their cars — even though they are not being used now — in anticipation that striking miners will go back to work soon.

TVA Chairman Aubrey Wagner wrote a letter to the Interstate Commerce Commission on Wednesday urging the ICC to pressure railroads to get the coal cars moving.

In the past month, TVA has purchased more than 1 million tons of Wyoming coal, all to be delivered over a five-week period. But the agency so far has received only 55,000 tons.

Rex Williams, TVA's purchasing director, said railroads have committed only five of the 25 trains needed to move 200,000 tons of western coal weekly to TVA plants.

Meanwhile, officials reported Thursday that stockpiles at 10 of TVA's 12 coal-fired power plants now stand at 1,735,000 tons, a 23-day supply. TVA provides electricity for 2½ million customers in Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama, Virginia, North Carolina, Mississippi and Georgia.

For the past five weeks, the agency has been losing about 100,000 tons of coal weekly from its supply. Officials said increased shipments of the western coal TVA has purchased would end that drain.

The present outflow would force TVA to resort to a mandatory 30 percent power reduction to industry in seven weeks. Officials estimate the cutback, planned when the stockpile falls to 1 million tons, would force between 100,000 and 150,000 workers off their jobs.

TVA Power Manager Nat Hughes said warmer weather and additional coal supplies are helping. But he disclosed for the first time that consumer response has been poor to TVA's request to reduce electricity usage by 20 percent.

"So far, it has not been very gratifying," he said. "The best judgment we make on it is less than 5 percent."

Hughes said another problem is that TVA's largest coal-fired plant, the 2.6 million kilowatt twin-generator Cumberland facility near Nashville, is shut down entirely. Cumberland has a 70-day supply of coal, the second largest in the TVA system.

One unit at the plant has been off since last October with generator repairs. The other was shut down over the past weekend because of vibrations in its steam turbine.

Hughes said it is not yet known how long repairs of the turbine will take. The unit with the generator problem is expected to go back on line later this month, he said.

Teacher PN Bill Headed For Committee Showdown

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky school teachers are making a last-minute push to get a professional negotiations bill through the legislature.

A bill providing for collective bargaining for public school teachers has made it through the Senate and a House committee and is currently headed for a critical showdown in the Rules Committee which could determine its fate.

Some 100 teachers gathered in the Capitol rotunda Thursday in support of the bill and were urged to continue working with legislators to get the bill passed. "This is a critical moment in the life of Senate Bill 88," Kentucky Education Association president Wayne Harvey told the cheering crowd.

"Our most determined efforts must be directed toward getting the bill out of the Rules Committee and sending it to the floor of the House where it will be voted upon," Harvey said.

Backers admit the key to the bill's success rest with the Rules Committee, where opponents are expected to make an effort to have the bill sent to the Appropriations and Revenue Committee to kill it.

Bob Summers, chief lobbyist for the KEA, said he felt 11 of the 18 members of the Rules Committee would vote to send the measure to the floor for a vote. However, he admitted all might not show up for the meeting when the measure is considered.

Summers also said he felt there were 52 representatives who would vote for the bill if it makes it to the floor, but he didn't know if that many would support an effort to take the bill from the Appropriations and Revenue Committee if it is sent there.

"It's another matter when you talk about taking a bill away from a committee," Summers commented. It would take 51 votes to take the bill from the committee.

Several legislators also spoke to the rallying teachers, including Rep. Terry Mann, D-Newport, chairman of the Business Organizations and Professions Committee.

"We still have a long way to go," Mann said. "The passage of Senate Bill 88 is not guaranteed and it will take a lot of work on your part."

Mann urged the teachers to continue explaining the bill to legislators. "A lot of people are not sure what it is and what it isn't," he said.

"There is a lot of misguided information and misplaced fear on Senate Bill 88," added Rep. Steve Beshear, D-Lexington, a backer of professional negotiations for teachers in the House.

The bill would require local boards of education to negotiate with teacher organizations which request it, but would not require the boards to accept any agreement.

The bill, weakened in a Senate committee before its initial passage, contains a no-strike clause and removed binding arbitration in the original bill.

'Coal Ripper Bill'

House Hikes Coal Severance Limit

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — After one of the most heated debates of the 1978 General Assembly, the Kentucky House of Representatives has approved a bill to increase coal severance tax revenues, and to allocate a portion of the state's Energy Road Fund to counties through which coal is hauled.

The House defeated a controversial amendment Thursday that would have allocated a larger share of the tax to noncoal-producing counties for repair of coal roads, after coal county legislators said it would hurt the biggest coal producing counties.

Two amendments designed to return severance tax funds to coal producing counties through the Energy Road Fund and to give non-coal counties a share were approved.

The "mountain amendment," sponsored by Rep. Bill

Weinberg, D-Hindman, would require 75 percent of the Energy Road Fund to be returned to coal-producing counties, while 25 percent would go to non coal-producing counties through which coal is transported regularly.

Forty percent would be used by fiscal courts for selected county roads, while 60 percent would be used for the state's primary roads.

A second amendment, proposed by Rep. Mark Fitzgerald, D-Cynthiana, would give non coal-producing counties 25 percent of the surplus severance tax each fiscal year of the biennium.

The unsuccessful amendment proposed by Rep. Joe Clarke, D-Danville, would have returned severance tax funds to counties based on the number of miles of roads over which coal is hauled, instead of on the basis of the tonnage mined in a county.

Clarke said his amendment was an equitable, honest way to distribute the energy road fund. He said there is no guarantee that there will be a severance tax surplus over the next two fiscal years, or that non coal-producing counties would get anything back for road repair.

However, coal county legislators opposed the amendment.

"It's a clear, plain case of robbery," said Rep. Herb Deskins, D-Pikeville.

Weinberg said he was banking that there would be a surplus since there has been one every year. He said if the amendment to return more money to the non-coal producing counties was adopted the bill should be called the "Coal Producing Counties Ripper Bill." A ripper bill is one that destroys a specific group.

The Meaning of Death

Death is not a popular subject for most people. In fact, it is a subject to be avoided. Yet it is an event that each of us must experience both personally and through others. Recently, physicians have found that it is a source of relief to terminally ill patients to talk of their feelings about death openly. Those who believe that life and death have some meaning seem to face death more courageously.

Although there are many religions and philosophies that help people to face death, this question is central to the Christian religion. Christ's death and resurrection freed man from the fear of death. In John 3:16 we read, "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." This is Christ's message to an anxious world about the meaning of death.

WKMS Highlights

Rossner's Attachments Is Disturbing

ATTACHMENTS. By Judith Rossner. Simon &amp; Schuster. 392 Pages. $9.95.

Author Judith Rossner, who last wrote of the seamy subculture of singles bars, serves up results in her latest offering "Attachments."

In her attempt to chart the bizarre terrain of another byway along the contemporary relationship trail, Ms. Rossner manages initially to be disturbing, and then menacing, until the entire reading affair dissolves into the banal.

Two California women who are old school chums form a menage a quatre with Siamese twins, set up house in a quiet New Hampshire town, marry the boys and raise families. Eventually the twins are surgically separated, but by then the story has become so laborious that it's difficult deciding whether to wait for the outcome of the operation or not.

Nadine, the narrator, self-indulgently overwhelms us with her sense of perpetual isolation and ambivalence toward the relationships, which began with a magazine clipping about the twins which she had tucked away at age 15. Her youthful fancy eventually works itself into a full-time obsession.

A kinky thread holds this novel together, but it is a flimsy one. Generally, this book suffers from underdevelopment — from its characters or its plot — despite its length.

"BUG MAN"

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Dannaldson, 62, has an unusual occupation. He trains insects for television and film.

"Behavior control is a better description than train," says his wife, Beth, who often works as his assistant. "Train sounds like teaching a dog tricks. With insects, you know their habits, you know how to handle them, and you know what can be expected of them."

When director George Stevens called upon him to work on "Gunga Din" some 40 years ago, Dannaldson was curator of reptiles at the University of Southern California. He helped turn harmless gopher snakes into cobras by attaching fake hoods around the snakes' necks, then raising them up cobra-like with hidden bamboo poles. He imported iguanas and other reptiles for Hal Roach's original "One Million Years, B.C."

His latest assignment was Robert Aldrich's "Chorboys," for which he handled a duck and a multitude of cockroaches.

CAAN TO MAKE DIRECTORIAL DEBUT

NEW YORK (AP) — Screen star James Caan will direct his first motion picture, "Hide in Plain Sight," this spring, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has announced.

Caan, who made his debut as a screen actor in 1964 in "Lady in a Cage," will also star in the new film release.

Your Individual Horoscope

— Frances Drake

FOR SATURDAY, MARCH 11, 1978

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) ♈
Look for a highly stimulating weekend. Both travel and social activities should prove enlivening. Romance also favored.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) ♉
Your judgment a bit off now. Take nothing for granted, even if all seems well. And, above all, make no hasty decisions.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) ♊
A clash of temperaments could cause needless friction. Don't jeopardize an old friendship by becoming overly emotional.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) ♋
Watch your budget! Reject any ideas for travel or entertainment which you can ill afford. Tendency is to be reckless now.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) ♌
Curb an inclination toward undue suspicion. Look into all situations carefully, but do not read unintended meanings into others' words.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) ♍
Don't fret if it becomes necessary to sacrifice some leisure time to job matters. Results will more than make up for your disappointment.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) ♎
Use all of your innate judiciousness in putting forth original ideas, in trying to remedy unsatisfactory conditions. Don't let discussions become disputes.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) ♏
This could be a somewhat erratic day unless you steer a steady course. Above all, avoid discussions which could upset associates.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) ♐
Make time count. Whether handling large or small matters, don't let nonessentials get in the way of steady progress. Personal relationships highly favored.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) ♑
Without realizing it, you may be a victim of your own fears and misgivings. Pull yourself together. This is a day which calls for clear thought, definitive action — AND self-confidence.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) ♒
Your intuition sharp now — especially in money matters. An early-morning decision in this connection will prove correct.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) ♓
Don't listen to what others say when you have good reason to believe the source is questionable. Stress your good judgment and objectivity.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine mind, a great appreciation of learning and a keen sense of discrimination. You have lofty ambitions — which you CAN attain, no matter how humble your beginnings. Highly gifted, you could succeed as a writer, artist, musician or scientist. An amiable and genial friend, you are also extremely sympathetic to the unfortunate and will spare no effort to help them. In fact, it has been said that Pisceans are the true humanitarians of this world. Birthdate of Lawrence Welk, musical director; Dorothy Gish, actress; Harold Wilson, British politician.

State General Assembly Gears Cranking Faster In Final Days

By T.G. MOORE

Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky legislative gears are cranking faster as the House passed a multitude of its own bills Thursday in an effort to get them moving in the final days of the 1978 session.

With about 100 bills on the House agenda, legislators endured another evening session without a break as they voted summarily in most cases on non-controversial measures.

Debate was reserved for the administration's proposal to increase coal severance tax revenues. The measure passed after the House defeated a controversial amendment that would have allocated a larger share of the tax to non-coal-producing counties for repair of coal roads.

Two amendments were approved that are designed to return severance tax funds to coal-producing counties through the Energy Road Fund and to give non-coal counties a share of return.

The severance tax proposal now goes to the Senate.

The Senate, meantime, passed a House bill raising the minimum fine for most traffic violations by $15; the measure now goes to the governor.

Sen. Walter Baker, R-Glasgow, charged that the measure "is sticking it to the little man who can't come up here to Frankfort and fight."

The bill is expected to raise up to $8 million a year.

The Senate also passed a bill to allow local governments to place a property tax on unmined coal after amending it to in effect remove the current state tax.

enforce the new federal strip mine law was approved by the Senate and sent to the House. The bureau already has been created by executive order of Gov. Julian Carroll.

The strip mine bill is a companion measure for a bill passed earlier this week by the Senate that would bring Kentucky's strip mine law into line with the federal act.

An effort to allow persons whose licenses were suspended or revoked for drunk driving to drive to and from work was defeated 46-42 by the House.

The House approved a bill to establish the Churchill Downs Authority which could someday take over operation of the famed home of the Kentucky Derby if the track's stockholders approved the move.

The measure now goes to the Senate. The president of the Kentucky Education Association said Thursday that a collective bargaining bill for teachers is at a crucial stage and urged teachers at a Capitol rally to continue to push for the measure.

Wayne Harvey urged teachers to press for getting the Senate-passed bill out of the House Rules Committee and onto the House floor for a vote.

Taft-Hartley Act Is Ignored In Kentucky Coalfields Today

By The Associated Press

The Taft-Hartley Act became effective in Kentucky's coalfields today but was ignored from east to west by striking United Mine Workers members.

Some mines reported they were ready to resume operations but were blocked because their employees failed to report for duty.

Union spokesmen argued that they hadn't been served with back-to-work order were turned over to U. S. marshals were delivered by U.S. marshals.

"I don't know about the rest of the men but I ain't going back," said one miner standing near the union hall at Cumberland. His comment was typical of that expressed by strikers throughout the coalfields.

"We're just sitting tight until we're served notice, but we don't know when that's going to be," another miner commented.

Copies of the federal restraining order, and would take no action until shals for delivery to each district and local no later than 4:30 p. m., EST, Monday. Technically, a defendant is not required to obey the directive if he hasn't received it.

Vandalism,

Stolen Car Cases

Reported In City

Murray Police continue an investigation into at least 10 separate incidents of vandalism and window breaking around Murray Wednesday night.

According to a police department spokesman, most of the vandalism incidents involved car windows being shot with a pellet gun.

Some building door windows were also broken. Estimates on total damage is almost $1500.

Police are also investigating a stolen car report. According to a police spokesman, Richard L. Humphries of 1631 Hamilton reported his 1965 auto missing from Bel-Air Shopping Center around 3 p. m. Thursday. Police continue to investigate the report.

Arson Suspected In Barn Blaze

Calloway County Sheriff's Department is investigating possible arson in connection with a fire that destroyed a tobacco barn Thursday.

The fire destroyed a barn belonging to Graham Felner of Graham Road just off KY 121 early Thursday morning.

A spokesman for the department said evidence points to arson. The fire destroyed the 10 room barn, a rubber tire wagon and some tobacco sticks.

The department investigation is continuing.

were quiet. There were no pickets, and no mine activity.

The four mines at Lynch, plus the company's preparation plant at Corbin, employ about 1,100 workers. ons.

Hundreds of the miners at the facility had voted last Saturday to accept the latest contract and go back to work, but no workers were in evidence today even though the mine was ready to operate if anyone showed up.

A mine spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said preparation work didn't get under way because the mines hadn't been served with the Taft-Hartley injunction ordering them to resume production, and they never expected anyone to show up for work.

Glenn Stratton, superintendent of Star Mine Division of Peaybody Coal in Greenville, said he had called the union's safety committee Thursday evening and asked them to inspect the mines to get them ready.

"Nobody appeared," said Stratton, adding that he then telephoned the local's president and was told "the men aren't going to move until they've gotten the papers. We need a chance to read them and explain them to our members."

Stratton said he doubted that anything would happen before Monday.

The foreman for the Gibraltar Corp. at Central City said he also alerted the union's safety committee.

"They didn't show," said the foreman, asking that he not be identified.

"We opened the gates at 7 a.m. and told everyone we were ready," the foreman continued. "I don't think the men will move until they get the papers."

He said the mine has about 400 employees.

Beth Elkhorn Corp., one of the largest coal producers in eastern Kentucky, also was idle.

Ray Mullins, superintendent of industrial relations, said the firm has 1,000 UMW members on the payroll.

"The mines could be worked almost immediately because supervisory personnel have kept them in good condition," Mullins said.

Calloway County Board of Education, to retain Don Overbey, a Murray attorney, for $80 per month next fiscal year.

Board members strongly objected, and even passed a motion to that effect, to some 18-20 teachers applying for unemployment benefits for days missed due to snow.

Murray School Superintendent Robert G. Jeffrey indicated that teachers were paid, regardless of the inclement weather.

"There are ethics about this sort of thing. . . We pay these people," Don Henry, board chairman said.

Board members passed a motion to attach a statement to all applications (the school board has to verify the teachers were out of work) saying the teachers were paid when out of school.

Unemployment Down For 4th Month In Row

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big increase in new manufacturing jobs helped push the nation's jobless rate down to 6.1 percent in February, the fourth straight monthly decline in unemployment and the lowest since October 1974, the government reported today.

The unemployment rate in January was 6.3 percent.

The best unemployment gains in February were for blacks and other minority workers, whose jobless rate declined to 11.8 percent, down from 12.7 percent in January and the lowest in more than three years.

The February report said the effects of the long coal strike either had not yet shown up or not yet had an impact on overall employment, although it noted that the strike has taken 160,000 miners temporarily out of the labor force.

Aside from the miners themselves, about 20,000 workers have otherwise been laid off because of the strike.

The Labor Department said 93 million Americans had jobs in February, up from 92.9 million in January, while 6.1 million were unemployed, down from 6.2 million a month earlier.

Reflecting the steady improvement in the nation's economy, the February unemployment rate of 6.1 percent was the lowest since a 5.9 percent rate during the recession in October 1974.

The Labor Department said overall employment last month was 3.7 million higher than in February 1977, the first full month of President Carter's term in office.
